YANKS SCORE THREE RUNS IN TENTH, BEATING GRIFFS 6-4

NATIONALS LOSE AFTER BREAKING TIE IN 8TH INNING

Hugmen Win After Deadlocking Game in Ninth With One Run.

By RAY HELGESEN. A rally in the tenth inning, after the Yanks had scored the tieing run, with two out, in the ninth, gave the present American League champions a 6-to-4 victory over the Nationals in the second half of the two-game series yesterday. The Yanks' second rally came with two out just as the tieing one had come and scored three runs on a walk, Washingt'n 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 1 0 1-New York.. 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 3-and four clean hits. The Griffs had gone into the ninth enjoying a one-run lead. They had scored the run which broke the 2-all tie in the eighth on Sam Rice's triple to left near the foul line and Bucky Harris' double to the only one Ray Francis issued,

In the ninth the Griffs had erased a pair of Yanks and the customers were beginning to file from the stands, when Wally Pipp pulled the unexpected by tripling between Smith and Rice. The ball rolled almost to the wall in left, but fast fielding held the lengthy first sacker to three sacks. As the customers began a wild scramble for their seats Aaron Ward drove his third straight hit of the matinee through the box into center field. Pipt scored the tieing run, and a few seconds later Ward was caught off first by a snap throw from Gharrity to Judge.

Francis' Only Pass Hurts.

That forced the battle into extra innings, as the Griffs were knocked down in order in their half of the ninth. Gharrity managed to get to first on an error by Ward, but was n an effort to sacrifice, popped into ones' paws, the pitcher's toss to go catching Pat by fifteen feet. Judge smashed down the first-base foul line, but Pipp handled the ball and got Joe unassisted. Everett Scott opened the Yanks' tenth by grounding to Bucky Harris. Francis then issued his lone base on balls to Hofman. As Jones struck out the fans emitted a sigh of relief, believing the danger in that particular inning was over.

But Whitey Witt picked that particular and to get the only hit which ticular spot to get the only hit which he gathered during the afternoon. He singled to right, fast fielding by Brower holding Hofman at second. McNally stepped up and promptly singled to center, scoring Hofman and McNally went to second.

That brought the great Bambino

The outfielders shifted to the right side of the outfield and Harris and Judge followed their ex-ample. Judge played within a couple of feet of the foul line, almost on the grass of the outfield, while Harri stationed himself on the grass in short

Yanks Score Three Runs.

Ruth took a couple of Ruthian swings. He swung again and smashed the ball toward second. If Harris had been playing in his customary pochance for him and he could probably have kept Witt from scoring. At it was Harris was lucky to stop the ball. Ruth was credited with a scratch hit. Witt scored and McNally ed to third.

Meusei followed with his second hit of the day, a drive into left, scoring McNally. Ruth tried to go to third. but was cut down, Smith to Shanks.
That ended the inning. Three runs had scored on four hits and a walk

That was enough for Miller Huggins. He evidently figured that Jones was weakening and he refused to take any chances. Jones was waved to the showers and Shawkey took up the any chances. Jones was waved to the showers and Shawkey took up the Yanks' hurling burden with the tieing run on first.

Milan sent Eddie Goebel in to run for Brower. Harris swung lustily rat the first ball Shawkey pitched. But the best he could do was a grounder to McNally at third. Mike smothered the ball and shot it to Ward, cutting down the fiying Goebel. Ward in turn shot it to Pipp.

bel. Ward in turn shot it to Pipp. Ward cutting down the flying Goebel. Ward in turn shot it to Pipp, beating Harris there by a step. The Griffs' rally had died almost before it was born.

As a matter of fact the game,
while not officially lost in the tentn,
was really tossed away in the sixth.

Three hits in this inning were wasted because of Rice's foolish base running.
